

PLANS TO RECEIVE THE PRINCE.

German Representative to Visit Large Cities.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The committee charged with the arrangement for the reception and entertainment of Prince Henry today decided it would be impossible to yield to the requests of many cities to have the Prince visit them. It is likely that besides New York, Washington and Niagara Falls, the journey will include Chicago, only of the large cities. It also was decided, owing to the tide, to have the launching occur on the original date, February 25th. This will necessitate two trips on the part of the Prince between New York and Washington.

The Prince will come to Washington from New York, arriving here on the morning of February 24th. He will be met at the station by a handsome military escort and conveyed to the German Embassy. Monday evening the Presidential party and the Prince will leave Washington for New York and they will see the launching at 10:30 Tuesday morning. This plan involves a return to Washington of the entire party as it is likely on the 26th the Prince will be entertained at dinner at the White House. On the 27th he is to be one of the company present at the Capitol when Secretary Hay delivers the McKinley memorial address to Congress. After a few social engagements the Prince, in charge of the reception committee, will go on a short tour, riding up at New York in time to sail on the Columbia on March 6th for Germany. These plans have been communicated to the German Ambassador, and so far as they stand approved by him and by the Prince himself, (to whom they will be cabled) they will be carried out.

THE PRINCE SAILS.

KIEL, Jan. 18.—The Imperial yacht Hohenzollern sailed for New York at 9:30 this (Saturday) morning.

MORGAN NOT IN IT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—A representative of J. P. Morgan & Company, today denied that Mr. Morgan was organizing a great steamship company to absorb the American, Leland, White Star and Cunard lines. He said:

"There is nothing to it. The whole thing is just so much talk. That is the sum and substance of it all."

The Staats Zeitung today published a cablegram from Berlin saying that the Directors General of the North German Lloyd and Hamburg-American Steamship Companies would come to the United States together in February.

MIHT REVIEW HIS FATHER.

OBJECTION MADE TO APPOINTMENT OF F. E. BAKER AS CIRCUIT JUDGE, NEW YORK.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The Senate Committee on Judiciary today agreed to report favorably the nomination of Hon. Francis E. Baker of Indiana to be Circuit Judge in the Seventh Circuit. The opposition to Judge Baker's confirmation was withdrawn, but the circumstances connected with his case were discussed at some length. There was especial reference to the fact that his father is District Judge of the Indiana District, and the point was made that with the son occupying the Circuit Bench it might fail to his lot to review his father's decisions. There was, however, a general expression of the view that the presence of a man's father should not be allowed to stand as a bar to his own preference. It was suggested that in such cases Judge Baker's own delicacy could be depended upon to find a proper solution of the problem. This view was accepted and the decision favorable to reporting the nomination was adopted.

Other nominations which the Judiciary Committee decided to report favorably were those of Fletcher M. Dean and Richard E. Sloan to be Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of the Territory of Arizona.

POSTMASTER MAY NOT HAVE TO PAY LOSS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The Senate Committee on Postoffices today authorized the introduction and report of a bill relieving Postmaster Coyne of Chicago from responsibility for the $74,000 worth of postage stamps stolen from the Chicago Postoffice. This action is in accordance with the recommendation of the Postmaster General.

FLANIGAN IS HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Gorman Followed Flanigan and Grappled With Him After He Left O'Brien's Store —Officer Ely is Flatly Contradicted.

A remarkable conflict of testimony was developed yesterday afternoon at the preliminary examination of Edward F. Flanigan, charged with the murder of Richard Gorman.

Austin O'Brien and Patrick Newell were contradicted by Police Officer George Ely. O'Brien testified that when Flanigan first came into the store Patrick Newell seized his pistol arm and turned the weapon away from O'Brien's breast. Gorman then forced O'Brien into the grain room at the rear of the store. After a minute or two Gorman went out toward the front of the store, and shortly afterward O'Brien heard a shot fired. O'Brien said he went to the front door and saw Gorman and Flanigan standing up. He did not see the shot fired and was not on the sidewalk when the shooting occurred.

This testimony was corroborative of that given by Newell, who said he had got Flanigan out of the store when Gorman reappeared and tried to take the pistol from Flanigan. In the scuffle that ensued the shot was fired. At the time of the discharge of the pistol Flanigan was down on the sidewalk, while Gorman was on top of him. Gorman cried out "I am shot!" and Officer Ely placed Flanigan under arrest and took the pistol from him. Newell said O'Brien was not on the sidewalk when the shooting occurred.

When Officer Ely took the stand he testified that he saw three men struggling on the sidewalk. O'Brien was one of them. Ely said he pushed O'Brien away and told him to go back into the store. While his back was turned the shot was fired. Turning, he heard Gorman say "I am shot." He was standing erect while Flanigan was down on all fours some ten or twelve feet distant.

All the other witnesses agree that O'Brien was not present when the shooting took place.

Former Mayor Chapman cross-questioned O'Brien closely as to what occurred at the meeting in Massimo's saloon. O'Brien admitted that he accosted Flanigan first and invited him to drink, and Flanigan drank with him twice. He had testified that he had not spoken to Flanigan before that time since this affair of last August, when he said Flanigan threatened his life. He was not armed and had not carried a pistol.

A dispute arose in the saloon, and O'Brien said he called the latter a fool and struck him, O'Brien struck back and struck the other blows. O'Brien said he was struck in the chin but received no mark.

All reference to the subject of conversation was carefully excluded. Only once was it referred to and that was during a sharp passage between former Judge Frick, who is special counsel for the prosecution, and Mr. Chapman when the former stated that the witness was called upon to tell everything that was said except "the reference to the daughter."

When Massimo's bartender interferred he pulled Flanigan out of the front door, O'Brien ran out of the side door, and they met on the sidewalk. O'Brien was going toward Fourteenth street, while Flanigan was going south toward his home. O'Brien said Flanigan again applied a foul epithet and struck him. Witness struck back.

"Did you kick him?" asked Mr. Chapman.

"No."

"Did you tell him to go home?"

"No."

"Don't you testify in your direct examination that Flanigan said, 'You here, and you told him he had better go home? I don't think so."

"Was there any loud talk?"

"What I have said,"

"What attracted the attention of the bartender?"

"He saw it all."

"Wasn't he inside?"

"Yes."

"Did you push Flanigan up against the side of the bar and strike him several times and did not the noise attract the attention of the bartender?"

"I didn't push him up against the house."

"You only struck Flanigan in the face?"

"Yes."

"And you did not kick him?"

"No."

"And you didn't talk loud?"

"No."

"You say Flanigan threatened your life last August?"

"Yes."

"He lives in the same neighborhood that you do."

MANIAC WAS IN TOWER OF S. P.

Experiences of T. L. Holden Who Held a Lunatic at Bay.

T. L. Holden, a torman of the Southern Pacific, had an experience with a maniac last night in his mid-air rookery on First street, which he related this morning in Judge Hall's Court. The maniac, Henry Clay Jones, was present in court because he was under examination for insanity.

At midnight on the night in question, Jones presented himself at the tower and professed to be a supervising employee of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, whose duty it was to make a nightly visitation of signal and switch towers of the company in this section.

Holden, admitted the fellow to the tower, whereupon the latter began to juggle with the control wires, because he had a can of fuel into the stove and built a roaring fire, which heated the iron to a white heat. He then undertook to polish the stove, when Holden mildly interfered, and during this time he was under examination by this time, and he was dealing with a madman and that he would have to humor him.

Later, Jones wanted to carry the glowing stove down stairs, and this he was prevented by Holden from doing, because it meant death to the lunatic and destruction to the tower.

Meanwhile Holden had, in some manner, informed the men in one of the outer bridges of the height and the bridge, and the police who responded and took Jones to the City Jail. He was committed to Stockton.

TODAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

This morning the examination was resumed. Officer Ely was again contradicted by James Teaheney, a cripple, living at 1461 Thirteenth street, who was called by Judge Frick and testified that he saw Flanigan and Massimo in the same room, and that he was in trouble. The officer thereupon followed Flanigan to O'Brien's store, arriving there just as the shooting occurred.

Officer Ely testified that he saw Flanigan coming from the direction of Massimo's saloon just before the shooting. He was going toward O'Brien's store. Massimo met him and told him that there was likely to be trouble. The officer thereupon followed Flanigan to O'Brien's store, arriving there just as the shooting occurred.

"What did you see?"

"Three men apparently scuffling. One of them was O'Brien. I got between O'Brien and the others, and told him to go away. Just as my back was turned a shot was fired. On turning around, I saw Flanigan on the ground, and Gorman standing up. Gorman said, 'I am shot.'

"Did you see Patrick Newell when the shooting occurred?"

"No."

"Do you see anybody other than O'Brien, Flanigan and Gorman?"

"No."

Robert Sternitzky, a contractor, testified that he was present in the store when Flanigan came in, but he had no knowledge of the shooting.

THE JUNCTION CASH GROCERY STORE.

The well known store which has long been known at the Junction Cash Store, has done a large amount of business under the management of Walsh Company, at the intersection of Seventeenth and Central and Peñata streets. This store has been located at the junction for nearly a quarter of a century and has always done a rushing business. It was established by William Walsh, one of the pioneer business men in the western part of the city, whose enterprise has been a factor in the building up of that section of Oakland. Mr. Walsh has never been down in any of his undertakings, whether in the affairs of the building in or the Walsh Company, a modern store with every kind of family supplies, also hay, grain, feed, fruit, wines, cigars, etc. Mr. Walsh has now a son, John, and a son, J. O. and D. M. Boyle, both of whom are men well acquainted with and skilled in the grocery business, and who have, at the same time, a reputation for honesty and integrity which, like that of Mr. Walsh, has never been questioned.

JUDGE SAYS HE IS VERY WEARY.

Remarkable Statements in the Lookout Lynching Case.

ALTURAS, Cal., Jan. 18.—The defense concluded its cross-examination of witness Claude Morris this morning and the prosecution commenced its re-direct examination.

The unpleasant episodes which have so frequently marked the proceedings in the trial were not entirely lacking this morning.

Mr. Spencer asked the witness if his father had on his death bed or at any time after the lynching said:

"I could die happy if I knew that Trowbridge was one of those lynchees and would hang for it." The man had been lynched.

Morris replied in the negative.

"On the night you met Mr. Baker at Lookout did you state that Jimmy Boyd (one of counsel for the prosecution) had gone to your home and told your Uncle that he wanted to allow you would be shot and taking you aside, warned you not to go to Alturas?"

"I made that statement in substance, told Boyd that I had nothing to fear; that I knew nothing of the lynching, and that I could go to Alturas."

The defense asked the same questions several times as to the different persons present, and the prosecution objected to the question as being a sustained objection to the question of similar nature.

The defense stated it wanted to impeach Morris, he having made contrary statements in and out of court.

He admitted time and again and witness has told different parties he knew nothing of the lynching."

Asked whether he had not stated that he and Hutton had stepped out of the courtroom and told the witness he would be shot and taking you aside, warned you not to go to Alturas?"

"I made that statement in substance, told Boyd that I had nothing to fear; that I knew nothing of the lynching, and that I could go to Alturas."

The defense asked the same questions several times as to the different persons present, and the Court said:

"Counsel is killing time."

Asked whether he wanted to impeach the witness. Suppose some one should say that Your Honor and I went to a hen-roost?"

The Court, interrupting said: "Well, you will get the chickens, I don't like them and I'm sick of Modoc chicken." Baker—"If I say possums I'd been all right."

(Harrington is a Southern gentleman; Spencer asked the witness if he had any statement of the lynching he had made to the court.) The witness replied that he had and without promise of reward or immunity.

"Do you remember making a statement to court January 7th giving evidence on your occasion to circumstances which you have related in court on direct examination?"

"Yes."

"You saw considerable blood on the ground where O'Brien lay next morning?"

"Yes."

Mr. Chapman recalled James Tenehan, who said he was in the saloon when Morris was shot, and told the defense that Flanigan was on the sidewalk. Shortly after O'Brien came in and took a drink. Witness accompanied O'Brien to the latter's store.

"You took a seat and remained there up to the time Flanigan came in?"

"Yes."

"You could not see Flanigan's right hand?"

"Did he raise his right arm or extend it?"

"He raised it up a little and then let it down."

"Did he ever get it raised up at any time?"

"No."

"When Flanigan asked for O'Brien did he do so in an ordinary tone of voice?"

"Just as he was in the habit of speaking?"

"Yes."

"Was there anything boisterous in his conduct?"

"No."

"Was his manner threatening?"

"No."

"Is he cool and collected?"

"Yes."

"Did he make any resistance to going out with Newell?"

"No."

"Did Newell use any force in getting him out?"

"No."

"Did Flanigan go quietly out of the door with Newell?"

"Yes."

"Did Newell have his hand on him?"

"Can't say."

"When you told him he had better go out Flanigan turned and went along with Newell, without objection, did he?"

Spencer—"So, why have you testified differently on cross examination to these notes?"

Morris having testified that no inducements had been held out for him to confess, objected to as irrelevant and objection sustained.

Mr. Surtevant took up re-direct examination.

"After leaving the east end of the bridge the night of the lynching, who left for town first, you or Hutton?"

FERRIES ROAD MAY NOT TEAR SHOPS DOWN.

The Claremont University and Ferries Railroad of Berkeley will not be permitted to remove the car houses, shops and other buildings which it erected some time ago on Addison street west of Shattuck.

Judge Hall this morning granted a permanent injunction against the removal which, it is alleged, was contemplated.

This action was taken at the instance of the Berkeley Development Company, which is to take over the property.

The injunction, which was granted, greatly enlarges the company's interests, the more so because the defendant and others referred to in the complaint were bankrupt and could afford no legal redress.

BURGLARS PLUNDER A CHINESE MERCHANT.

Burglars broke into the home of Gee Num, Chinese merchant, on Seventh street, between Broadway and Franklin, they found in a strong box.

Entrance was effected through Councilman Schaefer's livery stable, the rear end of which adjoins the yard.

Upon gaining the burglar's box from the door and carried the strong box from the Oriental's bridle-chamber to the yard where it was forced open.

They took only the cash, several bogus coins which were with the gold, being down town.

The burglar's strong box was missing, while Gee Num was in his store in front of his home.

Mrs. Num was not at home, she having gone the day before to San Francisco to visit her parents.

Other accomplices who worked the thefts left the way they had entered the yard, waking the stableman in their flight and greatly frightening that individual.

HORSE AND BUGGY TAKEN BY MISTAKE.

Dr. Murray Johnson left his horse and buggy on San Pablo avenue, opposite the City Hall, this morning while he went to pay a professional call in that vicinity.

When he returned the rig was gone,

but it was later recovered by the police.

A stranger had mistaken it for another and returned it when he learned his mistake.

THE PHILIPPINE CHINESE.

It is stated that the Chinese population of the Philippine Islands will approximate 1,500,000. Presumably this includes the mixed bloods born in the islands as well as the pure Chinese. To allow Chinese from the Philippines to come here at will would make a big hole in the Exclusion Act.

However, the suggestion that the new Exclusion Bill shall prohibit Chinese in the Philippines from coming here has caused considerable discussion, besides raising a Constitutional question. This goes back to the question raised in the tariff matter.

Can persons lawfully in the United States be restricted to any particular part of the country? As the Supreme Court has decided the Philippine Islands to be United States territory, can persons born there be prevented from going where they choose within the confines of the country? Those newspapers which have been insisting that there should be free trade between the Islands and the United States may give themselves some useful mental exercise pondering over those questions, for it would be absurd to have free trade and not free travel.

If persons of Chinese blood born in the Philippine Islands have a right to come here they are by birthright American citizens, then they would have the right to vote. Thus the introduction of a large body of Chinese from the Philippines would involve the admission of a considerable number of Chinese to the privilege of the ballot.

However, persons born in Alaska or any of the Territories of whatever nationality have the right to vote in any State in which they may settle. Chinese born in this country are endowed with the ballot. The legal status of the Filipinos, including the native Chinese, is therefore a matter for serious consideration. If they are not fit to vote in their own country they are not fit to vote in this, and if they can be excluded we don't want the Chinese now in the Philippines permitted to come to these shores.

Let us have a canal whether it be at Nicaragua or Panama. Swapping horses in the middle of the stream has not generally been recognized as good policy, but if it be done in this case there will be no particular complaint if it does not cause another long delay. The lower house of Congress has already passed the Nicaragua Canal Bill, and a shift over to the Panama route will require the enactment of an entirely new measure. It will also require some modifications of the treaty with Colombia, which possibly may take considerable time. It will be a matter for deep regret if the complications should arise that will prevent the passage of any canal bill at this session. The project has been hanging fire long enough, so long that public opinion is growing more and more insistent. Playing the game of how not to do it while pretending to do it cannot always deceive the people, who are getting very impatient with the dilatory methods of Congress. There is a suspicion of bungo about the canal business that is not reassuring.

Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco has managed to get into the thick of a row before he has been in office a month, by his attempt to remove County Clerk Matheny. Under the Charter he has the power to do this, but the Supreme Court has declared the Clerk to be a county and not a municipal officer. The Mayor is purely a municipal executive. It is a question if a municipal officer can have any authority over a county official, but the incident will bring about another adjudication of the scope of the Charter, which has been under fire in the courts ever since its adoption. While most of the provisions attacked have been sustained some have been nullified. However, the incident is a rather bad hint that Mayor Schmitz is going to have a stormy administration.

It's a dull day when J. Pierpont Morgan is not reported to have bought a railroad or a line of steamers. The latest rumor is that he is about to purchase the White Star from the English owners. This is not unlikely, for circumstances have for some time indicated that he was planning to secure control of one of the great steamship lines plying between New York and Europe.

A man in New York danced on his ninety-sixth birthday, and taunted his eldest son aged seventy because he quit dancing first. The edge off this feat was taken off, however, by the old man's death four days later. The incident will strike one as evidence that dancing is not a good way to celebrate one's ninety-sixth birthday.

Between jail breaks and spectacular law suits Oakland is not devoid of excitement these days. Incidentally they relieve the monotony of street preaching, prize-fighting and accidents on the Oakland Transit System.

WILL SOON GIVE A LARGE CONCERT.

Prof. Gregory's efforts to establish in this city a large chorus of mixed voices is meeting with well merited success. The membership of the Philharmonic Society is steadily increasing, there being now over sixty members on the roll of the society. The members are enthusiastic in their appreciation of the work which has been selected. Mr. Gregory is now confident that the first concert of the society will be ready about February 20, at which time it is hoped there will be a chorus and orchestra of about eighty performers.

Alameda's Dramatic Cantata "Athalia" will form half of the program to be presented and the other half will be composed of separate vocal and instrumental numbers by artists of repute, who have not been heard previously in this city, whose engineer Prof. Gregory hopes to complete during the ensuing week. The rehearsals of the society are being held every Friday in the Conservatory of Music, Blake block, Washington street, and a number of advanced vocalists may yet be enrolled.

BERKELEY MAN SWALLOWED TEETH.

BERKELEY, Jan. 18.—Joseph Brethes, a mining engineer, swallowed his false teeth at dinner Wednesday evening and yesterday he died at his home at 2147 Russell street, Berkeley.

The teeth lodged in his esophagus and an operation was necessary to remove them. Death was due to the injury and shock.

As soon as Brothers had swallowed the plate, to which one tooth was attached, he became convulsed with pain and Dr. T. J. Clark was summoned to treat him. An operation was resorted to at once, but it did not furnish the necessary relief. The deceased was 60 years old and a native of Canada. He leaves a wife and five children.

An inquest will be held at the Berkeley morgue this evening.

RED CROSS LADIES PASS RESOLUTIONS.

DO NOT WANT THE TRANSPORT SERVICE TURNED OVER TO CORPORATIONS.

A special meeting of the directors of the Oakland Red Cross Association was called by the president, Mrs. Granville Abbott, at her home yesterday afternoon. The meeting was devoted to the consideration of the proposed change in the transport system, by which it should pass out of Government control and be managed by private corporations.

The subject was discussed from many standpoints. The labor view was given, in the fact that the change would throw many laborers out of work—the transport repairs being made in Hongkong and the transports themselves manned by Chinese and Lascars.

The expense phase of the problem was also discussed, that being one of the reasons for the proposed change. It was shown that the expense had not been correctly formulated, since the cost of the transports had been included in the report. And it was the sense of the members assembled that the United States was a rich enough government to take proper care of its soldiers, even if it might be found an expensive duty.

The main point of the discussion centered about the suffering and hardships the change would entail on the United States soldiers. No private corporation could be expected to do for them what the Government would feel its duty to be. It was the sentiment of the Red Cross workers present that commercialism ought not to be a factor in dealing with the American soldier. The man who offered his life for his country deserved the best care possible for the country to bestow upon him.

An important part of the transport service lies in bringing back sick soldiers from the Philippines. It requires the best possible arranged hospital service, and the lives of the sick soldiers are best protected under the care of the Government.

At the close of the discussion resolutions were formulated to be brought to the notice of President Roosevelt.

They set forth that the members of the Oakland Red Cross Association had for the past three years supported an active transport committee. That on the Pacific Coast, the exigencies and changes of the transport service were well known to the Red Cross Committee.

The resolutions expressed the fact that the highest patriotism of the country required that the transport service should remain under Government control.

The Oakland Red Cross Association most respectfully entered its protest against the proposed change.

The secretary has been instructed to forward the resolutions to Congressmen Metcalf, asking that through him they may reach President Roosevelt.

DR. LINCOLN, M. D.

JUDGE HENRY SCHAFER, Flemington, N. J.

F. H. STOULER, Secretary and Treasurer of Railway Conductors, Pueblo, Colo.

REV. PAUL WELLER, Gorham, N. Y.

HYPNOTISM is no longer a myth, a fanciful creation of the mind, but a reality, a most potent power, capable of producing infinite good. For the purpose of ascertaining the exact value of this much-talked-of-power a committee composed of a physician, a well-known jurist, a prominent minister and leading railroad man was appointed to investigate Hypnotism.

The committee carried on a series of investigations in regard to the power of hypnotism to influence the actions and deeds of people in the everyday walks of life.

The first step taken by the members of the committee was to master the science in every detail so that they might stand from personal experience the good or evil this strange power might produce. They wrote the New York Institute of Science of Rochester, N. Y., the greatest school of Hypnotism and Occult Science in the world, and received full and complete instruction in regard to how hypnotism may be used to influence people in business, how to use it in treating diseases, &c., &c. In a few days they mastered these instructions and were well-qualified hypnotists.

It was clearly demonstrated that hypnotism may be employed so that the person operated upon entirely unconscious of the fact that he is being influenced, and all things considered, the committee regard it as the most valuable discovery of modern times.

Judge Schaefer, although a legal light, turned his attention to healing the sick, and in a few treatments he completely cured John E. Myers, of Flemington, N. J., of a strange malady that had kept him bedfast for nine years, and which the doctors said must surely kill him. Judge Schaefer's fame spread for miles around and hundreds of people applied to him for treatment.

Mr. Stouffer performed the astonishing feat of hypnotizing Mr. Cunningham, of Pueblo, Colo., at a distance of several blocks. He also hypnotized an aged gentleman and had him run through the streets shouting: "Red-hot peanuts for sale." Mr. Stouffer says it is indispensable to one's business success.

Heretofore, prisoners will be allowed only one hour a day to pass the corridor. The rest of the time must be passed in their cells and preventing the escape of any more prisoners.

Each of the windows in the cells will, hereafter, be closed up with a sheet of steel plate which will require a hole to be cut through it before escape can be effected. This is more difficult to that the cutting of a bar. Outside this plate will be the present lattice work of steel. Outside this lattice there will be a row of two inch steel bars and on the extreme ends there will be the plate of steel which has heretofore been in place.

Prisoners will be allowed to have a key or a small wicket to enable keepers or prisoners to look in or out. This door will be supplemented by a door of steel bars which, even when closed, will enable the keepers to see every occupant of the cell.

One, a German,—serving a life sentence for having killed his wife in a fit of jealous rage. This man was and is one of the finest pastry cooks to be found in many days' travel. He is fat and jolly looking, with a mild blue eye and benignant glance.

The second was the Chinese cook, a gullish looking boy of twenty or thereabouts who had butchered one of his countrymen, as Chinese have a way of doing, and who was so tender-hearted generally, that I have known him to rescue a fly from a pan of milky gravy which had inadvertently flown, and set it outside on the window ledge to revivify itself in the sun. In answer to a query as to why he did it, he turned a glance of withering scorn, and said: "Why for I let him die? I can give back life."

Curious mass of contradiction!

The third servant was a Japanese called Tito—a man so faithful to the warden and his wife that I verily believe he would willingly have laid down his life for either of them. Both the Japanese and the Chinaman were pardoned out. The former went to Honolulu and the latter, quon sabe? may be, for aught we know, a cook in the kitchen of one of Oakland's fashionable households.

It was Mark Twain who said, I believe, that every one of us would be murderers had the right time and opportunity presented itself.

But the bulk of prisoners with whom one has to deal belong to the light-fingered gentry. The variety is almost infinite, and ranges from the man who steals your pocket book to the man who robs a train or breaks open a safe.

Keeping him in prison doesn't cure him of this propensity—how would it?

When he has served his time he is sent up to the world wearing a suit of prison clothes known as the State overalls, and with just exactly five dollars in his pocket. The clothes act as a preventative against obtaining work, and he is ever so economical the five dollars are soon gone. Then he must either steal or beg—and steal he usually does. Of course he is found out, and soon goes back to prison again. And it is in this way these lives are spent—most of the time in prison, with only occasional glimpses of freedom.

But they are men, for all that, very human and very weak. They needs must be looked after carefully and dealt with wisely. The question of how best to deal with criminals is surely far from being solved.

The world is full of crime, and that is that most men who are confirmed criminals begin their career in youth or early manhood, and it is the neglected boys that philanthropists should pay the most attention.

HOW THE

ARE TREATED.

Betty Martin Has Some Suggestions to Make About Reforms.

Joe King has managed to stir up considerable sympathy about convicts. Heaven knows, they need all the help and sympathy they can get, but it should be tempered with a knowledge of criminality—an acquaintance with which the general public concerns itself very little or none at all.

Usually, people are inclined to regard State prisons much as they would menageries, and look upon the prisoners as so many wild beasts contained therein, instead of human beings, easily swayed by impulses of good or evil.

Any help given is done much as we throw a dog a bone—just to relieve the present, with no thought for the future, nor inquiry into the past.

As prisons stand today, they restrain, but do not reform, in the very nature of things. In California, because of the opposition of the trades unions, prisoners are prohibited from learning trades, and are discharged after serving a sentence, in just about the same condition mentally as when committed.

FADS AND FASHIONS FOR OAKLAND WOMEN.

Some Interesting Gossip About the Latest Styles—Coat Sleeves Are Being Made Much Larger.

MY PARTNER.
When I with Polly eucrue play
She rends my feelings sadly
By asking me at each misplay,
"Now, did I do so badly?"
She trumps my aces, oft revokes,
Nor pays the least attention
To what she plays, but laughs and jokes—
A host such I could mention.

She "orders tip" in reckless way,
And "passes" when she shouldn't,
When I protest at this she'll say,
"Now Jack, you know I couldn't!"
The trump she never can recall,
She asks the score each minute;
Then, much surprised, says, "Is that all?"
Let's hurry up and win it!

You think it strange perhaps that I
Should for my partner choose her
In lieu of other girls near by,
And then should thus abuse her?
Tell the truth, I Polly choose.
And vengeful feelings smother,
Because with her I'd rather lose,
Than win with any other.

—Robert T. Hardy, Jr.

COAT SLEEVES LARGER.

Coat sleeves are being made much larger, of necessity, to accommodate themselves to the dress sleeves, which are, if possible, more elaborate than heretofore.

Bell-shaped sleeves are much in favor, and in many instances the anger or flowing sleeves of our grandmothers' day are to be seen. Beneath them sometimes a dainty affair of Swiss muslin or lace, gathered into a band at the wrist, is worn. A writer in the Home Journal says that fashions were never so sensible nor so suitable to so many purposes and occasions, as they are today; one or two broadly general rules obtain, and after that your fancy's pleasure. But fashion has so many different meanings to different people that it is often a more than troublesome question to know just what the fashion for one's own individual tastes and needs are, the "needs" being in nine cases out of ten much more exacting than the demands.

A PRETTY FASHION.

A specially pretty fashion, a revival of a few years ago, is the square-necked bodice for demi-toilette. It does not necessarily have to be of the same material as the skirt. Could anything be more useful for the unexpected occasion than a waist like this? Pompadour silk in soft colors seems to be made for this very kind of—shall I say, demi-toilette blouse? As it looks particularly well with black skirts, and charming with white lace ones, a touch of black must be somewhere, at the throat, the waist, or in the trimming. The sleeves should be rather short—that is, just above the curve of the elbow—and very flat and tight, or else very long, loose and crinkly.

SATINS AND SILKS.

Satin and silks, slashed so as to show white chiffon or white mousseline de soie beneath, are among the latest inspirations of fashion these openings bordered with narrow fur. They are made with transparent lace sleeves and frequently open at the neck. Every fashion of old days would seem to have been pressed into the service of tea gowns, even to the plaitings on the hips, with a closely plaited train at the back. Princess tea gowns are very well worn but they generally have an overplus of gossamer material falling in an unbroken line from the bust and allowing the figure to be seen through it, hands of fun giving the substantial touch which is so desirable.

SEPARATE WAISTS.

The newest waists, both plain and for dress, this season are of the same material as the skirt, though silk, lansdown, cashmere, and flannel are still much seen, as well as the thin materials and all sorts of lace, net, and jet. Almost all fancy waists are finished in one of two ways—either with an Eton or bolero jacket or a large collar sometimes modified in the revers. The fronts are still long and flounced, and the back mostly without a seam and short. The separate waist is too useful ever to go out of style, but this year in matching the skirt it is showing a tendency to become a part of the dressy gown.

LILY OF THE VALLEY.

The lily of the valley is stated to be Queen Alexandra's favorite flower, and, in consequence, lily blossoms will no doubt be much in evidence at the coronation festivities next year. Some people have considered that the lily of the field of the Holy Scriptures is the lily of the valley; but, apart from any other considerations, the plant is a native of colder climates than those of Palestine, and it could not live in the often heated arid plains of the Holy Land. In the colder, damper regions of northern Europe, in Sweden, Norway and Denmark, the lily of the valley, or virgin's tears, as it is sometimes called, flourishes. This reason may perhaps explain Queen Alexandra's love for the delicate flower whose bells, like little illumination lamps, hang gracefully from their slender stalk.

A NEW FAD.

There is a fad just now for collecting illustrated post-cards. These pretty souvenirs are placed in scrapbooks which are sold for the purpose though an ordinary scrap-book will serve very well. The foreign cards are interesting, and girls who have friends in Europe are asking them to send these souvenirs. The cards must have passed through the mail to be of value to the collector. The foreign

CHANG'S CLOTHES

When the late Li Hung Chang visited this country, his gorgeous clothes caused quite a stir in Washington society. The best remembered garment was perhaps the famous yellow coat. The silken sheen of the coat was wonderful. It was not very long, and the extreme richness of the silk caused it to reflect light and shade almost as if the silk were spun from glass. The open bell-shaped sleeves showed a lining of the richest silk, in that deep, beautiful blue associated with Chinese porcelain or enamels, and yet in some lights reflected the greenish blue of the peacock eye feather that ornamented his cap. Some of the colors to be found in Chinese silks of the best quality are from dyes known only to this wonderful nation, and no one has succeeded in exactly reproducing them. Very old silks used in mandarin and other official capes show wonderful pinks, brilliant reds and strange shades of yellow and sage green, that have never lost their glow of color, and the new silks in which these shades are used have exactly the same tints, showing that the Chinese dyes have a peculiar fastness of their own, and the secret of their power has been well kept for many centuries. Modern Chinese silks include various makes not unlike taffetas, but there is no question of Chinese taffetas ever splitting as French and other manufacturers do—they wear, one might say, almost forever.

STICKLER FOR STYLE

"I paid a visit to an aunt of mine last week," said Brown. "I had not seen her for several years, and she made my visit a gala event. Now, she is a great stickler for style, and unfortunately the girl whose duty it was to wait on the table had been called home by a death in the family, and my aunt had been obliged to hire a good-natured German girl to act in her place while she was gone.

"To my aunt I have always been Willie, although not even my wife has taken that liberty for years. During the dinner she turned to the girl and said absently:

"See if Willie will have some more of the roast beef."

"The girl ambled around where I was, and leaning over my chair she asked solicitously:

"Will you have some more meat, Willie?"

"My aunt got red in the face and then white, and I thought for the moment that she was going to faint. From the moment the girl had her cue and proceeded to carry it out, it was Willie this and Willie that till my aunt showed every sign of going into a fit at such unheard of familiarity. But I rather enjoyed it, and when I left I insisted, much to my aunt's horror, upon seeing the girl and bidding her good-by. I think the climax came when, smiling broadly, she said:

"Come again, Willie!" —Detroit Free Press.

CAT'S TAILS.

A Sunday school teacher in Carnegie, Ill., told her class of a cruel boy who would catch cats and cut their tails off. "Now, can any little girl tell me of an appropriate verse of Scripture?" she asked. There was a pause, and then a small girl arose and in a solemn voice said: "What God has joined together, let no man put asunder"—Chicago Journal.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

"How will you have your eggs cooked?" asked the waiter. "Make any difference in the cost of 'em?" inquired the customer, cautiously.

"They cook 'em with a nice slice of ham," said he, greatly relieved.—Tit-Bits.

"Is there any precaution taken here against fire?" inquired the nervous guest.

"Oh, yes," replied the hotel clerk, reassuringly; "the proprietor has the place insured to its full value."—Philadelphia Record.

Interesting Plays at the Macdonough and Other Local Theaters

Barry Johnstone the leading juvenile man of the Frederick Warde Company, was born in Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, in 1884. His parents migrated to "the States" in '67 and settled in Syracuse, New York, where they have since resided. Mr. Johnstone began his first real experience on the dramatic stage, strange to say, with Mr. Frederick Warde, as light comedian and juvenile man, in 1885. He later on played in "Curtis' 'Sam'l of Posen," then drifted into melodrama, playing the leading parts in "My Jack" and "The Power of Gold." In 1892 he was starred in a play called "Eagle's Nest," after which he played one of the leading characters in New York in a play of local coloring entitled, "The Inspector." Mr. Johnstone was leading man with the late Macle Proctor and H. D. MacLean for three years after which he played in a comedy-drama called "The Sidewalks of New York," and in 1897 joined Mr. Louis James as his leading man, playing such parts as "Cassius," "Iago," "Romeo," and "Pharsaricus." A year later when the combination of Warde-Johnstone was effected, he was engaged as leading juvenile man, Mr. Warde withdrew in 1899 and the combination was James-Kidder-Hanford. Mr. Johnstone continuing. Last season he was leading man for Madame Modjeska, and made a pronounced success as "Faulconbridge" in "King John." The press all over the country pronounced Mr. Johnstone's "Faulconbridge" a most finished embodiment of Shakespeare's splendid soldier-knight. At the Macdonough tough, BEN HENDRICKS.

Ben Hendricks, the popular actor and comedian, is again presenting the best of the Swedish dialect plays—"Ole Olson," and with the same results that have attended his previous starring tours in this play—a succession of crowded houses that is seldom broken, giving tribute to his well-directed efforts in the star part and to the excellence of his supporting company. Mr. Hendricks and "Ole" with all its fun, pathos, musical features, dancing and other specialties, will be at the Macdonough Theatre next Monday and Tuesday evenings and will doubtless attract that large class of amusement-loving that gets enjoyment from a wholesome, kindly, naturally presented.

The Swedish Internat is a factor in the theater and the singing of this organization of attractive Swedish lasses is always an appreciated feature.

THE DOWNEY.

In response to a general request, Manager Stevens of the Dewey Theatre will give next week a great presentation of the famous play "Quo Vadis?" When this piece was first produced at this theater it ran for three weeks and every night standing room was at a premium. Some months later it was again put on and the first success was more than repeated.

Next week, with the many new additions to the scenery and the many talented people in the cast, "Quo Vadis?" will be presented on a scale of magnificence that none but the most confident managers dare attempt.

"The Slave of the Orient" has been very well received during this week and will be produced for the last time tomorrow night.

PECK'S BROADWAY.

A. J. Tapping, the wonder, will be seen for the first time in Oakland tonight at the ever-crowded Peck's Broadway Theater.

Mr. Tapping will be the headliner of an entirely new program, which has been arranged for tonight and all the week.

Tapping has no equal—he mystifies—he entrals. He performs miracles which defy explanation.

In a few days the current question on the streets will be, "Have you seen Tapping?"

To miss seeing this wonder is to miss your lesson of a great miracle performing phenomenon.

New moving pictures will also be shown this evening. The best in the vaudeville world for 10 cents admission is Mr. Peck's slogan.

DIETZ VAUDEVILLE HOUSE.

The show given this week has been a huge success. The galaxy of vaudeville stars seen this week have delighted hundreds by their gifted talents. Anyone fond of a rattling good continuous entertainment should not fail to visit the popular new playhouse at Twelfth and Webster streets.

There are no long waits or delays, but like clockwork, star after star appears in a clever specialty.

An exciting change of bill will be seen on Monday night and the management has promised several large surprises. The prices of admission are 50, 25 and 25 cents—the show is worth ten times that.

CENTRAL THEATER.

That thrilling metropolitan drama, "The Fire Patrol," will be on at the Central next week. To spite fond of an exciting evening will crowd the house all the week.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

The historical play, "Don Caesar De Bazon," will be given at the Grand Opera House all next week with the star, Edwin Arden, in the name-role. Matinee on Saturday and Sunday.

CALIFORNIA THEATER.

Frederick Ward, America's foremost Shakespearean player, will begin a notable engagement at the California tomorrow, Sunday, evening. Julius Caesar, King Lear, the Mountebank and Virginius, will be seen during the week.

THE ALCAZAR.

"Coral & Co." will be the bill at the Alcazar next week. This great play will be given a sumptuous mounting with special scenery. The full strength of the excellent Alcazar Stock Company will be called out.

THE TIVOLI.

The Tivoli Theater next week the offering will be that great success of last season, "The Toymaker." Ferris Hartman will be the toymaker and the rest of the company will be happily cast.

LITERARY NOTES OF INTEREST.

Books and Periodicals That Contain Excellent Reading.

"Physical Culture and Self Defense" is the title of a book which is certain to attract attention because of the subject of which it treats and, in a special manner, because of the fact that it is the work of Robert Fitzsimmons ex-heavyweight champion prize fighter of the world. This is not a book written on the spur of the moment. It has not been published for the sake of making money by being the first to catch the eye of the public. On the contrary, it shows study, careful preparation and a thoroughness in every department which will be highly appreciated. It treats of physical culture, self-defense, and gives an entertaining recital of the battles in which Robert Fitzsimmons has engaged. It has very readable introduction by A. J. Drexel and is lavishly illustrated from poses by Fitzsimmons and Geo. Dawson. The book will be appreciated by members of clubs devoted to athletic sport and by those who wish to learn the art of self defense. In it, Fitzsimmons is just as successful an instructor as he has been a "general" in the ring.

The book is published by Drexel Blodde, 228 South Fourth street, Philadelphia.

SANTA CLAUS.

"Santa Claus: His Life and Adventures" is the alluring title of a new book announced for publication in the early summer by the George M. Hill Company. The author is L. Frank Baum whose "Father Goose" and "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz" are well known to juvenile readers. Mr. Baum has hit upon a most interesting subject for a story, and eminent critics who have read the manuscript say it will at once become the classic tale of the children's patron saint.

Among the many features which will delight the youthful readers is the chapter describing the discovery of Santa Claus when a baby by the good fairies, his courtly retinue. The first distribution of toys is his own making. Other chapters tell of a band of wicked dwarfs who are continually endeavoring to thwart his good work, but meet ignominious defeat in the end. After many varied and exciting experiences Santa Claus is about to die. The good fairies call a grand council, and realizing that his death would cause untold sorrow to children, decide to throw over him the mantle of immortality. The book will be read by parents who are frequently called on by the little ones to "tell us about Santa Claus," and will be artistically printed with numerous illustrations in color. Published by the George M. Hill Company, Chicago.

NOTES FOR THE ENDEAVORERS.

(By May B. Croft, Chairman County C. E. Press Committee.)

Communications for this column should reach Miss May B. Croft, 113 East Nineteenth street, not later than Thursday morning.

The Park Congregational Church of Berkeley, Rev. W. H. Scudder, pastor, has a very prosperous Christian Endeavor Society. It held its semi-annual banquet last Friday evening for the purpose of electing new officers. The following were chosen: Miss Grace Rodgers, president; Miss Grace Munson, vice-president; J. H. Hedley Sudder, secretary, and Miss Edith Atchow, treasurer.

The various reports from the several officers and committees were read and showed great work and untiring energy on the part of the members. The society has come up from a membership of three to one of over fifty, and a steady increase seems to be its fortune. The young people have raised in less than three months one hundred and fifty dollars, which has been used to help mission work and to improve the church in various ways. It has purchased a complete set of the finest church hymnals for the church, has entirely renovated and fixed up the headquarters for the "Priests' Aid Society," and the Rodger's, a member of the society. Besides these things, it has been successful in raising money for the Ladies' Aid by assisting it in a bazaar just recently given. The society is a great factor in the success of the society and is very prevalent and very encouraging and was made evident by the good report of the Prayer Meeting Committee. The members of this society invite all who wish to come and visit them Sunday at 6:30 P. M. corner Fairview and King streets, Berkeley.

Endeavorers all over the county, don't be held up. The Friends' Church of Alameda county are to be held in the second Friday of February. The student body last year 82 counties of California, 17 States and Territories and 7 foreign countries. 8,000 graduates now successfully applying their knowledge. Nearly 300 graduates placed in positions last year. 60 typewriting machines in the typing department.

TANGLES IN POLITICS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Some Names That Are Being Mentioned for the State Ticket—Contest for Clerk of the Supreme Court.

(Special to the Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18.—It will take a whole lot of diplomacy to straighten out the many local tangles that are in evidence here as a result of the recent distribution of political leaves and fishes, for there is more muttering and grumbling going on than is generally imagined. Districts that heretofore have stood solidly with the machine are said to be badly disrupted and although herculean efforts are being made to straighten everything out satisfactorily, it is plain that ragged edges will be in sight for a long time to come.

The scandal regarding the County Clerk's office has had a bad effect, too, in that it has exposed a condition of affairs that Ruef and his allies will be able to take advantage of. With all this talk going around of political assessments and so forth, a leverages is created for the pseudoreformers and as they are already in possession of hammers furnished to them by virtue of Schmitz's occupancy of the Mayor's chair, it is fast becoming plain that there is a lot of trouble ahead for those who in the past have had control of San Francisco politics.

During the early part of the week another grave danger was threatened for it was whispered about that relying upon Schmitz's ability to help them out, the leaders of the unions were figuring upon another strike. The basis of it was said to be that since the recent big dispute, the coal passers on Punsman's bunkers and other such places on the water front had been reduced in pay from 65 cents to 50 cents an hour, and that this incident, together with the fact that some of the most troublesome employees of the Overland Freight Company have recently been dismissed, would be ample reason for turning loose the dogs of war.

With all the dire possibilities in mind what another strike would mean it is little wonder that there was considerable agitation in political as well as business circles until the subject was thoroughly worked out. It was then found that the real leaders of the unions are strongly opposed to a strike at this particular time in view, among other things, of the effect of the recent drain upon labor treasury, so the trouble appears to be happily averted for awhile.

There can be no doubt, however, that the labor people are determined to attach all the importance possible to their movement, and it seems to have been finally settled that they will have legislative and perhaps congressional nominees in the field in some parts of the State. They are already moving actively upon such lines in San Francisco, and it is well within the possibilities that they may carry a couple of the Assembly Districts where conditions are peculiarly constituted in their favor.

RUEF'S PLANS.

Ruef, however, is planning to have this labor strength directed upon the lines where it will do his organization the most good, and as is beginning to be believed, he ties up with the Flint end of the Gubernatorial fight, there is no telling what moves may be made in the local game. It is claimed by the Gage people that such a condition is improbable by reason of the fact that some of the unions for years against the mental and physical suffering of lost manhood that the Tribune has decided to distribute free trial packages to all who write. It is a home treatment, and all men who suffer from any form of sexual weakness resulting from youthful folly, premature loss of strength and memory, weak back, varicose or emaciation of parts can now cure themselves at home.

The remedy has a peculiarly grateful effect of warmth and seems to act direct to the desired location, giving strength and development just where it is needed. It cures all the ills and troubles that come from years of misuse of the natural functions and has been an absolute success in all cases of sexual weakness.

State Medical Institute, 68 Electron Building, St. Wayne, Ind., stating that your desire one of their free trial packages will be complied with promptly.

The Institute is a great name, and a great class of men who are unable to leave home to be treated, and the free sample will enable them to see how easy it is to be cured. The best known way the other remedies are employed. The Institute makes no restrictions. Any man who writes will be sent a free sample, carefully sealed in a plain package so that its contents need not be known or discussed or publicity. Readers are requested to write without delay.

The clerkship of the Supreme Court, Battle Creek, Mich.

is evidently going to result in a very lively fray, for in addition to George Root's desire to succeed himself and Frank Jordan's bid for the place, the name of A. W. Johnson and Frank Brandon are being heard. Johnson is Root's chief deputy and will not be a candidate unless it should become certain that the incumbent cannot get renomination in which event he will get in with both feet and hopes to land with the aid of the State organization. Brandon, while he would be glad to get the place if it came without complications, says that he does not wish to be considered a candidate. His plans depend entirely upon the outcome of the Mackenzie-Good Government contest at San Jose on May 19 for he is an ardent member of the latter organization.

To return to the Attorney Generalship, it may be said that there are some probabilities in connection with that office that deserve mention. As before stated, if Ford goes before the convention there is no doubt that he will have the support of both factions and that the nomination will be secured by him again. Should, however, the Market Street Railroad deal go through, and there is almost positive assurance that it will be completed within the next two months, General Ford will undoubtedly be appointed chief counsel for that corporation. This position would be of such importance and entail so much work that he could not carry both it and the Attorney-Generalship, so if that contingency comes about there will be an opportunity for a new man upon that part of the ticket. Assemblyman Arthur G. Fisk has got his eye upon the place and has, in fact, made a number of preliminary moves to secure it, subject, however, to General Ford's being out of the fight.

OPEN FIGHT.

The Lieutenant-Governorship seems an open proposition at present. As Cutler is a candidate for Governor and furthermore is opposing Gage's renomination, it is not likely that he will take second place upon the ticket; in fact, it is absolutely certain that he will not if Gage is at its head. Then there are George Reed and Charles Snook of Oakland and mention of Byron Oliver of Los Angeles, so it is hard to get a line upon what is going to happen in that quarter.

With Railroad Commissioner Edison a pronounced and active candidate for Governor, it is but natural that a number of claimants for his official shoes should be in sight. The most active aspirant to date is Will Crooks of Benicia, who, if he gets encouragement from the organization, will endeavor to bring Solano county into the convention for Gage for Governor and himself for Railroad Commissioner. Mayor Clark of Sacramento is also being connected with the place a good deal, and those who are watching what is going on are satisfied that the machine leaders are patching up peace with him upon that basis. He was a candidate for the Undoubtedly four years ago and is undoubtedly still that way inclined.

In the Fourth District of the Board of Equalization there is also some rivalry in progress. T. O. Toland of Ventura would doubtless like to go back, but seems to have a hard road to travel, for he is in a Flint county, and A. G. Kendall of San Bernardino will undoubtedly be Flint's candidate in return for handing that section for him. Supervisor H. M. Cherry of San Diego is also mentioned as an aspirant.

DEMOCRATIC PLANS.

In the opposition camp, where the Democrats hold forth, there is a good deal of talking going on but nothing in the line of actual development as regards State candidates. Among the many whose friends are boasting them for the Gubernatorial nomination the name of "Dicky" Beamer is now frequently heard, and the real argument is advanced that his great popularity is advanced by the ease with which he always walks away with the fight when he always walks away with the fight for the Board of Equalization would be similarly evidenced throughout the State if he were placed at the head of the ticket.

There is a mighty big difference, though between running in a district where local acquaintances are numerous and tackling the entire State and no one realizes this better than Beamer, who has watched many of his friends dashed to pieces against the rocks of ambition. As he apparently holds his first mortgage upon his present position, he is therefore inclined to declare himself satisfied with renomination, though if the principal leaders were thrust at him he would be very likely to accept them.

It is now very apparent that despite all the hard work done by Phelan in the past to get control of Democratic State politics he is going to drop out of the game for a while. He has come to the sage conclusion that an attempt to assert himself would possibly result in being turned down, in which event his ambitions would get a black eye that would be in evidence for many years. Instead of running that chance, therefore, he will voluntarily place himself upon the retired list of active politicians and will allow the present opposition to Phelan to wear itself out.

Phelan will undoubtedly come to the front again some day if he pursues this policy, for after all is said and done it must be admitted that he is about the best Mayor San Francisco ever had from the standpoint of the advancement of the municipality. The unfortunate trait in his character is his smallness over petty matters, for he would go out of his way to wreck this better than Beamer, who has a large number of his friends dashed to pieces against the rocks of ambition.

It is now very apparent that despite all the hard work done by Phelan in the past to get control of Democratic State politics he is going to drop out of the game for a while. He has come to the sage conclusion that an attempt to assert himself would possibly result in being turned down, in which event his ambitions would get a black eye that would be in evidence for many years. Instead of running that chance, therefore, he will voluntarily place himself upon the retired list of active politicians and will allow the present opposition to Phelan to wear itself out.

Phelan will undoubtedly come to the front again some day if he pursues this policy, for after all is said and done it must be admitted that he is about the best Mayor San Francisco ever had from the standpoint of the advancement of the municipality. The unfortunate trait in his character is his smallness over petty matters, for he would go out of his way to wreck this better than Beamer, who has a large number of his friends dashed to pieces against the rocks of ambition.

HE IS NOT A MURDERER.

PRISONER IN JAIL AT MARTINEZ
TURNS OUT TO BE A FAKER.

The Sheriff's office has been informed that the suspect who is held in Martinez under suspicion of being the man who killed a brakeman of the Southern Pacific several months ago is an impostor in that he pretends to have the name of J. A. Jacquot, a member of the Painters' Union of this city, when the latter is at present in this county.

By way of proving this statement, he refers to a card of the Painters' Union of this city, made out in the name of J. A. Jacquot, for the months of October, November and December of last year.

This piece of imposture tends to strengthen the suspicion that the suspect in question has a motive in concealing his identity, though he lacks intelligence to assume for a moment that the authenticity of that card would not be inquired into. The suspect is in ignorance of the fact that his probable connection with the crime in question is being investigated, and perhaps before the end of today his identity may be passed on by officers from Santa Barbara.

The J. A. Jacquot who card the suspect holds is the property of a young painter of that name, who is a member of the Oakland Painters' Union, and whose present place of abode is in the Crescent House, at the northeast corner of Sixth street and Broadway. He is working today for his brother-in-law, W. T. Lingard, painter who resides at 1332 Walnut street, Berkeley.

Jacquot was seen at his room last night and shown a dispatch in THE TRIBUNE telling of the arrest of the suspect in Martinez and of the fact of Jacquot's card being found in his possession.

In reply, he said: "These are my initials and that is my union card. I lost it some time between October 20th or 30th and November 4th, at Bakersfield. I went to the river there one day to take a bath. There were several others with me. I took off some of my clothes, but I did not go into the river. The water was too cold. In taking off my vest and shirt, I think I lost the card and memorandum containing my initials. I didn't know that any one had found it. I didn't miss it till a few days later, when I was on my way to Fresno. I traveled to Fresno from Bakersfield with a young man whose last name I can't recall. He was a young man, name like 'Dorgan'. The first name was Fred. He said that he was from Twenty-sixth street on the Mission, San Francisco, and that he was known there as 'Barney' or 'The Kid'. He took him on night, the latter part of October or the first of November in Bakersfield. He said he had just come up from the South. There were thirty of us in a saloon at the time and we were all arrested and sumoned to appear before a coroner. We were kept in jail three days and then the 'Barney Coast Kid' and I went to Fresno, where I was hired to go on building a log railroad about forty miles out of the city. The 'Kid' was hired too, but he wouldn't go out. He had a tough face and one day in Fresno we were sitting on the walk and we came near being arrested because the tough face of 'The Kid' wasn't liked by the police."

Jacquot said further that he returned to San Francisco on December 6th and that he has been living over there or over here ever since.

A coincidence in this case is the fact that the suspect in Martinez had on his person a printed description of the murderer whom he is suspected to be. The Painters' Union of this city has written to Sheriff Vea to ascertain how the suspect got Jacquot's card.

SEARCHING FOR THE JAIL BREAKERS.

These are busy days for the attaches of the Sheriff's office. Every man is doing double service, hunting after the escaped prisoners when time allows.

Jailer George Taylor telephoned today that he had examined the suspects confined in the Superior jail and had found probably that he wanted. He was then about to visit Stockton, Jailer Schenck and Deputy Sheriff Wales spent last night in San Francisco on a similar quest.

This morning Sheriff Rogers went to Calistoga to examine two suspects there.

TWO YEARS IN JAIL FOR DR. KRAUSE.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The Lord Chief Justice, Baron Alveson, today sustained the contention of the defense of Dr. Krause that the charge of inviting to murder must fail. There was no evidence that the letters in the case had reached Brodskom, but held that the question of "attempting to persuade" must go to the jury.

Dr. Krause was found guilty and sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

INSURGENTS SURRENDER.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The War Department is advised of the surrender of 380 insurgents to Brigadier General Jas. W. Waller at Cebu, January 16th. On January 15th they took the oath at Tagalog, Bohol.

BELIEVES CONDOR IS SAILING.

CAPTAIN FLEET DOES NOT BE-LIEVE THE WARSHIP IS LOST.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 18.—Captain Fleet, senior officer of the Esquimalt station, suggests that the overdriven sloop of war Condor is, no doubt, sailing to Honolulu, having used up her coal, owing to the extra labor entailed on her engines by the severe storm in which she was caught on the night of the 3d. Having used up her coal and being obliged to make sail, her passage would be slower, more especially as at this season of the year Honolulu is not in the zone of the trade winds. This, he thinks, will delay the sloop of war long beyond the time originally scheduled for her arrival in the Hawaiian port. He points out that it is rarely indeed that a British man-of-war is swamped by a sea, no matter how heavy the weather, and that the foundering, but they very rarely are swamped.

He is confident that when he receives his mail in a few days it will be found that there will be no ground for the apprehension.

The U. S. revenue cutter Grant left here yesterday for the west coast of Vancouver Island to investigate the reports of swamping on the part of the Condor. The sloop of war, the foundering ship, which when last heard of was battering against Cape Beale, will probably be learned.

BERKELEY, Jan. 18.—The Isthmian Canal Commission has completed its report and it will be submitted to the President this afternoon.

PRIZE FIGHTERS
ARE DISCHARGED.

TOM SHARKEY AND PETER
MAHER ARE NOT TO BE PROSECUTED.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18.—Peter Maher and Tom Sharkey, who were arrested yesterday at the instance, it is alleged, of the Law and Order Society and held in $5,000 bail to keep the peace, appeared at the magistrate's office to day and were discharged.

James H. Macfarland, promoter of last night's bout, who was also under bond, was released.

The magistrate announced that as the men had not committed an overt which might be construed as a violation of the statute prohibiting prize fighting, there was no complaint against them.

PANAMA CANAL.

PARIS, Jan. 18.—It is explained here that if the sale of the property of the Panama Canal Company is concluded Juras-Conseil will be appointed to decide whether a ratification by a French tribunal is required or whether the question of a general meeting of stockholders will suffice. In any case, however, it will be a matter of form. No obstacle is anticipated on that score.

NEWS NOTES FROM BERKELEY.

YOUNG MAN HAS A NARROW ESCAPE FROM BEING ELECTROCUTED.

BERKELEY, Jan. 18.—At an early hour this morning miscreants wrecked the sandwich wagon of J. W. Henderson, first taking the stand from a barn and wheeling it a distance of several blocks. The outrage has caused great excitement among the students and townspeople, and the marshal's office is working hard to find the guilty persons.

Henderson put up his wagon at 3:30 o'clock this morning, locking it in a barn on Addison street. It was taken to the corner of University and Shattuck avenue and the work of depreciation completed. The canvas was ripped, the gasoline stove smashed and the food thrown about.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE FROM ELECTROCUTION.

BERKELEY, Jan. 18.—Frank McAllister, a center street merchant, had a narrow escape from electrocution at the corner of Oxford and Center streets this morning. While riding on his wheel the trolley wire of the Oakland Transit Company snapped and fell.

The heavy copper strand struck the tire of McAllister's bicycle and then the ground, where it flashed in a threatening manner. He believes that had he been an instant slower while riding under the wire he would have been killed.

WILL BRING MANY SUITS.

SUBWAY EXPLOSION WILL BE THE CAUSE OF A COURT INQUIRY.

BOSTON, Jan. 18.—A concession of liability by the Edison Electric Illuminating Company in the subway explosion of March 4, 1897, in which a dozen persons were killed and scores injured, promises to end speedily a mass of litigation for damages involving claims aggregating nearly $1,500,000. Previously the courts had found the Boston Gas Light Company liable, but the Edison Company has contested the findings. Next Monday, when the damage cases are called in court on continuance, the announcement will be made that the Edison Company concedes liability with the Gas Company. It is thought that the Edison Company will make the payment of at least $500,000 of the damage claims by the Edison Company.

The explosion was said to have been caused by a spark from electric light wires igniting a gas leak in the pipe of the company's pipes into the subway, at the corner of Tremont and Boylston streets.

OMAHA, Jan. 18.—Two robbers with revolvers held up a dozen men in a gambling room over the saloon of Chic Cole at 14th and Douglas streets, and pocketed $1,000, pocketing, and secured the cash box in a corner from the customers of the place. ## BOILER IN THE ENGINE EXPLODES.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN KILLED AND OTHERS ARE INJURED.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 18.—A special from Victor, Ia., says: As the Denver limited passenger train No. 5 on the Rock Island was passing through town this morning at 5:35 the boiler of engine No. 500 exploded, resulting in the death of the engineer and fireman and slightly injuring two porters and a brakeman. The killed are:

W. WILLIAMS, of Brooklyn, engineer. E. HOAR, of Valley Junction, fireman.

The accident took place within 250 feet of the depot, and the noise of the explosion aroused every person in the town.

The force of the explosion threw everyone of the seven coaches of the train from the track, but only overturned the Des Moines Pullman. Fortunately, the passengers were uninjured. Pieces of the wrecked engine were strewn around for a distance of 200 feet and the boiler was found fifteen feet away from the scene of the accident. The cause leading up to the explosion will never be known, owing to the death of the engineer and fireman.

Superintendent Lawrence of this division, who was in the lead at 5 o'clock to clear away the debris, refused to make any statement with regard to the accident. The bodies of the engineer and fireman were horribly mangled and were found only a short distance away.

Train No. 5 does not stop at Victor. This morning the limited passed through Bayard at a speed of 50 miles an hour. The train turned east of the State line, begins a slight down grade, which extends a mile to Carnforth, where the Rock Island crosses Bar Creek. The accident occurred on this grade, and it is suggested that Williams had decided to lay out his engine for a burst of speed during which the accident occurred.

Williams, the dead engineer, has been in the service of the Rock Island Company for twenty-five years and was regarded as one of the oldest and most employable of the company. This morning's run was not his regular one, he having taken it to accommodate a brother engineer. For years he was stationed at St. Paul, Ia., but in 1887 he moved to Rock Island, Ill., where he has been stationed since.

RAILROAD MEN WILL MEET.

LARGE SESSION IS PLANNED TO BE HELD IN THE CITY OF PORTLAND.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 18.—The trans-continental Freight Bureau has issued a call to seventeen lines it includes for a session in Portland, February 16, at which more than 1,000 questions will be taken up. There is a strong probability that transcontinental rates as a rule will be discussed and a possibility that the bureau may decide upon important reductions.

The Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, Burlington, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and other lines in the West will be represented.

Suggestions have been made from time to time indicating that some of the interested lines would be willing to reduce their through rates upon the basis of a secure joint action. The attitude of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern is said to be unfavorable. A representative of one of these lines said of the probable action of the bureau: "There will without doubt be a desire of interest to see this territory, and do not positively that the question of through rates will come up, because although there are so many interests to lines that it is always difficult to secure united action."

"One of the tasks before the bureau will be to check up transcontinental rates, revising them to include charges made since the last session."
